NATIONAL PORTRAIT GALLERY OF EMINENT AMERICANS,
FROM FULL-LENGTH PAINTINGS BY ALONZO CHAPPEL,
Designed expressly for this Work from original Intervieses, obtained from the most authentic sources.

IN announcing this new publication, the Agents would state that it has been a long time in preparation, and that every pains has been taken, both in its artistical and literary departments.

Its plan is that of series of Biographies, including the illustrious men of every portion of our common country, from Maine to California, from the merchant of the seaboard to the pioneer of the western frontier, representing all the great eras of our history which embrace the existence of the United States as a Nation—from the Revolution to the present day. Here will be portrayed, side by side, the men of the Nation, the heroes of our wars, the founders of States, the promoters of the Arts of Peace—the MEN who stand forth to the world as emphatically the representatives of America. The story of their lives will be unfolded, simply, clearly, fully; with the view, as far as possible, of placing the reader in personal communication with them, by various anecdote and interesting narrative. They are men every way worthy of study. Their names are their eulogies—FRANKLIN, WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON, PINCKNEY, MARSHALL, CLINTON, HAMILTON, JACKSON, BAINBRIDGE, DECATUR, SCOTT, PERRY, CLAY, WEBSTER, BENTON, DOUGLAS, CRITTENDEN, IRVING, PRESCOTT, EVERETT, FARRAGUT, GRANT, and the rest of the illustrious host. Such are the men who, with their associates in arms and counsel and great deeds, will be presented in our NATIONAL PORTRAIT GALLERY. It will embrace the entire list of the PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES, from WASHINGTON to LINCOLN; the most eminent NAVAL and MILITARY HEROES, STATESMEN, JURISTS, ORATORS, LITERARY and SCIENTIFIC MEN OF THE NATION.

The Pictorial Department will exhibit a novel feature, never before, we believe, carried out in any similar undertaking—in a series of FULL LENGTH PORTRAITS presenting the most vivid representation of the characters, with suitable accessories. Two of these will be given in every number. There will be a full length portrait in every Biography—rendering the work, in the truest sense, a Portrait Gallery. These portraits have been drawn from the best authorities, expressly for the work, by ALONZO CHAPPEL, and engraved on steel in the highest style of the art. The letter-press will be from the pen of EVERT A. DUYCKINCK, one of the authors of the "Cyclopædia of American Literature."

It is the intention of the Publishers not to limit this work by any considerations of unworthy economy in its execution, or narrow range of selection in its subjects. Having before them the whole field, they design to present a comprehensive national work of general interest and universal acceptability.

Specimen copies of the above work may be seen at No. 18, Hongkong Hotel.
1598 Hongkong, 21st August, 1869.

The Daily Press

HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 8TH, 1869.

THE suggestions in the American papers that the engagement of Chinamen under contract to perform certain labour at a fixed rate of remuneration, for a certain period, in the United States, is contrary to law, must have their origin in a misconception of the nature of the case. If a contract can be made between an American citizen in China that is valid and binding here, it is very difficult to understand upon what principle it can be held that such contract would not also be binding in the United States, except upon the supposition that it was designed to evade the laws of that country, as would be the case if, as is supposed by some of the journals, such coolie emigration were in reality a species of slavery. Excepting upon this supposition, the contract would stand in precisely the same position as any other contract made in a foreign country, and enforcible in the United States. With regard to such contracts, it is very clearly laid down by Wheaton—an authority who would certainly not be gainsaid in the United States—that the rule is 'that they are governed as to all matters that are to be accomplished in the place where they are made, by the law of that place; but as respects other matters, are ruled by the law of place where they are to be carried out, or in this case, by that of the United States. As there is nothing to prevent contracts of a perfectly valid and binding nature being entered into between citizens of the United States in China, and the natives of this country, no question as to the validity of such contracts could arise; nor could there be any difficulty in enforcing them against the Chinaman in the United States, as the Law of that country, as the place where the contracts are to be carried out, would rule them. If it were true that such contracts had a sinister design, and were directed toward surreptitiously introducing a system of slavery, no doubt they would be invalid. But this is altogether an assumption. There are thousands of Chinese who will be very glad to accept employment at $12 a month in the United States, if they feel that they will be properly protected; and, if an enlightened view be taken of the advantages which Chinese labour must be to a new and rising country, there cannot be any question as to the desirability of affording them such protection.

The arrival of the Duke of Edinburgh in Japan, as detailed by a correspondent, is suggestive of the advisability of Hongkong getting to work in earnest with its preparations to receive H.R.H. As it does not seem likely he will visit Pekin, the only place to which he will go between Japan and this, will be Shanghai, so that the time of his advent in this Colony cannot be far distant.

Some complaints are made by travelling native traders and shopkeepers of a little overstrictness on the part of the Hongkong, Canton, and Macao Steamboat Company, with regard to collecting passage money. It used formerly, it seems, to be the custom to exempt children under ten years of age, and a few articles of personal property from payment; but latterly these privileges have been withdrawn, the children privilege being that apparently most valued by the natives. The matter might perhaps be looked into with advantage, as it is well-known that the Chinese attach considerable importance to these little advantages, and it is of course to the interests of the Company that they should not have any valid reason for complaint. Possibly the subject has not come under the notice of the general managers; but enquiry will show that the complaints are not without foundation.

The U. S. S. Iroquois left Yokohama on the 18th Augt., bound to the States via Hongkong, but falling in with the hurricane of the 20th, lost mizen, boats, and bulwark, and twisted the head of the foremast badly. She put into Nagasaki for temporary repairs, and left on 1st, arriving in Hongkong about 9 P.M. yesterday. She brings tidings that the Ashuelot is safe.

Letters from Peking refer to statements current in diplomatic circles at the Capital, and made "on the best authority" that the Chinese Government is seriously entertaining a project for the construction of an experimental Railroad, Shanghai to Soochow being the line mentioned, with a view to keeping the management of the Road altogether in its own hands. The same letters moreover state that the concessionaires of the proposed telegraph from Singapore to Saigon, have made arrangements to lay a submarine wire from the Coast of Cochin-China to Hongkong, and thence to Nagasaki, connecting en route with a vessel to be moored near Chusan. The line is to be in working order by the first of January, 1872.—Evening Courier.

THE STEAMER CATALUNA.

The public will be glad to learn that, by dint of much perseverance, and the successive trial of a variety of expedients, Messrs. MacDonald & Co. have succeeded in floating the steamer Cataluna, which may be now seen opposite their yard. At first, for the sake of saving time, it was attempted to force her back into the water, by dragging her from where she lay, by means of levers; though not much hope was entertained that this plan would succeed. It was then attempted to lift her back upon the cradle; but, finding that it was too high, the steamer was put back into her old position, and the cradle taken away. Now launching ways were then constructed, and one being placed under the port side, by means of hydraulic pumps, the ship was canted over the top of it, and was then lifted on the starboard side, and the way adjusted underneath, so that she thus stood in the necessary position on the two ways. She was then attached in the necessary way by means of tackles to two engines, while another tackle was adjusted on the capstan. Great power was required from the Hydraulics to start her; but they were found sufficient to move her as required, and as soon as they were set working, she slid about 5 feet. The tackles were then tightened, the rams readjusted, a distance of 30 feet more accomplished. Also then lay with her bows about half way across the Praya, and a third application of the pumps and tackle brought her to the edge, and made her so nearly waterborne that she was easily put afloat by means of tackle.

Messrs. MacDonald deserve to be congratulated upon the success of their persevering efforts, which were rendered specially difficult on account of there being not more than about 50 feet of the vessel exposed to work upon at the commencement. They have made arrangements to take her up to Whampoa to repair her in their dock at that place. When it is considered that this has been entirely accomplished by their own appliances, and that the greater part of the work could only be done at Spring tide, the shortness of the time in which it has been accomplished, namely, exactly a month, is very noteworthy. The ship is not in any way injured.

SUPREME COURT.

IN CHANCERY.

BEFORE HON J. PAUNCEFOTE.

C. P. Henderson and others v. Compteir d'Escompte.

This was a bill in equity filed by the plaintiffs, in which they seek to recover the value of certain goods, consisting of 3,000 pieces Long Ells, 2,500 pieces 7 lbs., Grey Shirtings, and 2,000 pieces 7lbs. T Cloths, sold in August, 1866, to Messrs. G. F. Lyall & Co., G. F. Still of London, and shipped on their account to Messrs. Lyall, Still & Co., of Hongkong. Invoices were made out, in the heading to which were the words "proceeds to be specially remitted to meet the acceptances of G. F. Lyall and F. Still." On the receipt of the bill of lading the firm of Lyall, Still & Co., were in difficulties, and this document together with others were accordingly endorsed and deposited with the defendants as collateral security to a promissory note, given by the firm of Lyall, Still & Co., for certain bills of exchange drawn against silk documents. On the arrival of the goods they were sold, and the proceeds retained by the defendants. Under the heading to the invoice, together with the omission of the words, "or assigns" in the bill of lading, the defendants claim that they have an equitable lien upon these goods, that they were merely held in trust by Lyall, Still & Co., and that they were accordingly not assignable. The defendants have filed an answer, in which they admit the main facts as stated in the bill, but deny the equitable lien and claim of the plaintiffs.

Mr. Whyte, instructed by Mr. Sharp, appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Hayllar, instructed by Mr. Caldwell, for the defendants.

Mr. Whyte arguing for the plaintiffs submitted the following points:—1st—That the bill of lading was not negotiable, because the words "or assigns" were wanting in it. 2nd—That the omission of these words put the defendants upon notice, and was in fact, constructive notice. It should have put the defendants upon inquiry as to the special arrangement under which these goods were sold. 3rd—No goods passed. Lyall, Still & Co. held the goods as trustees, upon which the plaintiffs had an equitable lien. They could not therefore convey a better title to the defendants than they had themselves. In support of the first point, he cited the case of Miller v. Race. In support of the 2nd, the decision of Mr. Justice Ball in the case of Henderson v. Humphrey and Sharp, ex parte Bank, delivered in this court in October, 1868. In support of the third point, the decision of Chief-Justice Smale, in the case of the goods ex-Pakenan, Exparte Brooke, Evans v. Trauam, Mantingford v. Bateman, Beck v. Radford, and Chambers v. Davidson.

For the defendants, Mr. Hayllar opened his argument by referring to a celebrated judgment of Justice Ashur, in which he had said that where of two innocent parties one must suffer for the acts of a third, he who has occasioned the loss must sustain it. This he contended was specially applicable to this case. It was by the acts of the plaintiffs in letting L. S. & Co. have the goods that they, the defendants, must suffer, and the plaintiffs therefore should be at the loss. He next submitted that the omission of the words "or assigns," in the bill of lading was not actual notice. To make it such it should have been brought properly before the defendants, as it would have been had the words been printed in the bill of lading as usual, and so attracted their attention. Again, even if it had included power to pledge, and although a lien might attach to the proceeds of goods, still in the case of pledge for a bona fide valuable consideration, a lien could not attach to the goods themselves. In support of these points he cited the cases of Navrachan and Frammwing and Jenkins v. Osborne.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

September 7th.

BEFORE C. MAY, ESQ.

Charles Haslewood, P.C. No. 82, was charged with misconducting himself in his office as a constable, by unlawfully absenting himself from his duty and from the police-station, since the 30th August last past, without leave, and without a reasonable cause.

Mr. Francis A. Quin having been sworn, stated that he was Acting-Assistant Superintendent of Police, and the defendant a police constable. The defendant had been absent from duty, and station since the 30th August, and was an habitual drunkard. On the 8th of June last he was sentenced to one month for a similar offence. Defendant formerly belonged to the 75th Regiment, and was discharged therefrom in April last. He was then sent to the Depôt, and joined the police on the 1st of June. According to military regulation, a soldier is entitled to be sent to England within six months from his discharge.

The defendant, who stated that he had nothing to say, was fined $50; in default six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

By extracts from police defaulters' book, it appeared that from July 1st to September 1st inclusive, No. 82 had been fined $10.80.

Ross Simton having sworn to an information before the Senior, Police Magistrate, charging her servant boy, A-chow, with stealing one $5 note from her, which note she had given to him to change for her, A-chow appeared in the court, and was placed in the dock; complainant having stated that she had nothing to add to her information, defendant made his defence as follows:

That formerly he was in the employ of complainant, but that she beat him, and he left her in consequence, she being then indebted to him $1.25; and that now he was servant to a Portuguese, living on the upper floor of the house, a lower room of which was rented by the complainant; and when he was given the $5 note, as stated by her, he had lodged it at the Ow-lei chandlery. Yesterday, his uncle received the money, and now appeared with it.

Wong-uh-foong, uncle to the defendant, produced $4.20, and corroborated A-chow's statement, who was then discharged.

Chow-a-sing, Chinese police-constable No. 138, charged Choy-yuen-hing, also a Chinese police-constable, No. 78, both of whom are quartered on board the Central Water-police station, with having feloniously stolen, taken, and carried away, of his property, one pair of trousers.

The complainant stated how on going to bed on the evening of the 25th August, he hung up his trousers to dry at the bow of the vessel, and on the following morning missed them. After much enquiry, it was not until the 6th of September, he heard any thing about the missing garment, and on that day, the same trousers, now produced, were shown to him, and identified by him as part of the police clothes issued to him, and bearing his number.

Choi-a-kun, a boatman belonging to a licenced pull-a-way boat, narrated how the defendant had on the 5th instant sold to him a pawn-ticket for a pair of trousers, for a ten cent piece, which he had redeemed, and was showing to some boatmen, when a police sergeant came up, and from what the sergeant told him he showed the trousers to Inspector Daly, and then to the last witness.

Inspector Daly then took up the narrative and told how upon the trousers being shown to the defendant was handcuffed to a ring-bolt in the deck, as the chels below were all in occupation, and that upon one occasion he was let out upon the plea of a call of nature, and took the opportunity of jumping overboard, and everyone believed that the man must be drowned, as neither of two well-manned boats after long search, could find him; but that at midnight, when the lamp in the long boat astern was being trimmed, the man was discovered coiled up in the bow. The defence set up by the defendant was that once, whenever, none the Bank. Wharf, he had picked up the pawnticket. Sentenced to six months hard labour.

Inspector Grey stated that on receipt of a report made by a Jakong, he had visited the Praya near the P. & O. Co. coal-store, and there found, on the 6th instant, that Woo-a-heong, the master of the Kwong-yun-loi boug, Nos. 77 and 78, Praya West, had unlawfully caused an obstruction by packing sugar thereon, turning out the contents of the old bags into an heap, and filling new bags therefrom, by which the road was completely blocked up. After warning the defendant to discontinue the creation of the nuisance, he had quite received a further report, at noon, that there were then one hundred bags on the Praya, and on re-visiting the place in the evening, he had found all the old bags and refuse left on the Praya. Defendant admitted that on the day reported, he had a few bags on the Praya, and that he incurred that such was the case from the crowded condition of his shop, which was quite full of merchandize.

Fined $24, or in default seven days.

The master of the Wanlee Yu-kee godown, situated No. 4, Sang Hing Lane, one Chun-a-sum, was also charged by Inspector Grey, with having committed the same offence on the 5th instant, on the Praya West, by packing sugar thereon.

As in this case defendant could not plead that he had not been warned, as but a short time ago he had been fined $5 for a similar offence. Defendant adroitly tried to profit by his former trouble, alleging that it was not he this time. He had sold 90 bags of sugar to a trader, telling him that he must not on any account attempt to repack it opposite to his godown, and he had been promised by this unworthy customer that he would certainly only change a few of the very worst of the bags. Fined, however, $24; or, in default seven days imprisonment.

Chun-a-shing, of Sanon, a coolie, was charged by Yee-a-shing, a foreman over labourers at work at Stanley, of whom the defendant is one, with having stolen some of the clothing, which upon going to bed on the night of the 1st he had taken off and hung up against his door, in a portion of the long shed in which he slept, which was partitioned off from the remainder and larger portion of the building occupied by the gang. Upon mustering the gang, at the time when he discovered that the articles of lading, the defendants claim that they have an equitable lien upon these goods, that they were merely held in trust by Lyall, Still & Co., and that they were accordingly not assignable. The defendants have filed an answer, in which they admit the main facts as stated in the bill, but deny the equitable lien and claim of the plaintiffs.

Mr. Whyte, instructed by Mr. Sharp, appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Hayllar, instructed by Mr. Caldwell, for the defendants.

Mr. Whyte arguing for the plaintiffs submitted the following points:—1st—That the bill of lading was not negotiable, because the words "or assigns" were wanting in it. 2nd—That the omission of these words put the defendants upon notice, and was in fact, constructive notice. It should have put the defendants upon inquiry as to the special arrangement under which these goods were sold. 3rd—No goods passed. Lyall, Still & Co. held the goods as trustees, upon which the plaintiffs had an equitable lien. They could not therefore convey a better title to the defendants than they had themselves. In support of the first point, he cited the case of Miller v. Race. In support of the 2nd, the decision of Mr. Justice Ball in the case of Henderson v. Humphrey and Sharp, ex parte Bank, delivered in this court in October, 1868. In support of the third point, the decision of Chief-Justice Smale, in the case of the goods ex-Pakenan, Exparte Brooke, Evans v. Trauam, Mantingford v. Bateman, Beck v. Radford, and Chambers v. Davidson.

For the defendants, Mr. Hayllar opened his argument by referring to a celebrated judgment of Justice Ashur, in which he had said that where of two innocent parties one must suffer for the acts of a third, he who has occasioned the loss must sustain it. This he contended was specially applicable to this case. It was by the acts of the plaintiffs in letting L. S. & Co. have the goods that they, the defendants, must suffer, and the plaintiffs therefore should be at the loss. He next submitted that the omission of the words "or assigns," in the bill of lading was not actual notice. To make it such it should have been brought properly before the defendants, as it would have been had the words been printed in the bill of lading as usual, and so attracted their attention. Again, even if it had included power to pledge, and although a lien might attach to the proceeds of goods, still in the case of pledge for a bona fide valuable consideration, a lien could not attach to the goods themselves. In support of these points he cited the cases of Navrachan and Frammwing and Jenkins v. Osborne.

His Lordship reserved judgment.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

September 7th.

BEFORE C. MAY, ESQ.

Charles Haslewood, P.C. No. 82, was charged with misconducting himself in his office as a constable, by unlawfully absenting himself from his duty and from the police-station, since the 30th August last past, without leave, and without a reasonable cause.

Mr. Francis A. Quin having been sworn, stated that he was Acting-Assistant Superintendent of Police, and the defendant a police constable. The defendant had been absent from duty, and station since the 30th August, and was an habitual drunkard. On the 8th of June last he was sentenced to one month for a similar offence. Defendant formerly belonged to the 75th Regiment, and was discharged therefrom in April last. He was then sent to the Depôt, and joined the police on the 1st of June. According to military regulation, a soldier is entitled to be sent to England within six months from his discharge.

The defendant, who stated that he had nothing to say, was fined $50; in default six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

By extracts from police defaulters' book, it appeared that from July 1st to September 1st inclusive, No. 82 had been fined $10.80.

Ross Simton having sworn to an information before the Senior, Police Magistrate, charging her servant boy, A-chow, with stealing one $5 note from her, which note she had given to him to change for her, A-chow appeared in the court, and was placed in the dock; complainant having stated that she had nothing to add to her information, defendant made his defence as follows:

That formerly he was in the employ of complainant, but that she beat him, and he left her in consequence, she being then indebted to him $1.25; and that now he was servant to a Portuguese, living on the upper floor of the house, a lower room of which was rented by the complainant; and when he was given the $5 note, as stated by her, he had lodged it at the Ow-lei chandlery. Yesterday, his uncle received the money, and now appeared with it.

Wong-uh-foong, uncle to the defendant, produced $4.20, and corroborated A-chow's statement, who was then discharged.

Chow-a-sing, Chinese police-constable No. 138, charged Choy-yuen-hing, also a Chinese police-constable, No. 78, both of whom are quartered on board the Central Water-police station, with having feloniously stolen, taken, and carried away, of his property, one pair of trousers.

The complainant stated how on going to bed on the evening of the 25th August, he hung up his trousers to dry at the bow of the vessel, and on the following morning missed them. After much enquiry, it was not until the 6th of September, he heard any thing about the missing garment, and on that day, the same trousers, now produced, were shown to him, and identified by him as part of the police clothes issued to him, and bearing his number.

Choi-a-kun, a boatman belonging to a licenced pull-a-way boat, narrated how the defendant had on the 5th instant sold to him a pawn-ticket for a pair of trousers, for a ten cent piece, which he had redeemed, and was showing to some boatmen, when a police sergeant came up, and from what the sergeant told him he showed the trousers to Inspector Daly, and then to the last witness.

Inspector Daly then took up the narrative and told how upon the trousers being shown to the defendant was handcuffed to a ring-bolt in the deck, as the chels below were all in occupation, and that upon one occasion he was let out upon the plea of a call of nature, and took the opportunity of jumping overboard, and everyone believed that the man must be drowned, as neither of two well-manned boats after long search, could find him; but that at midnight, when the lamp in the long boat astern was being trimmed, the man was discovered coiled up in the bow. The defence set up by the defendant was that once, whenever, none the Bank. Wharf, he had picked up the pawnticket. Sentenced to six months hard labour.

Inspector Grey stated that on receipt of a report made by a Jakong, he had visited the Praya near the P. & O. Co. coal-store, and there found, on the 6th instant, that Woo-a-heong, the master of the Kwong-yun-loi boug, Nos. 77 and 78, Praya West, had unlawfully caused an obstruction by packing sugar thereon, turning out the contents of the old bags into an heap, and filling new bags therefrom, by which the road was completely blocked up. After warning the defendant to discontinue the creation of the nuisance, he had quite received a further report, at noon, that there were then one hundred bags on the Praya, and on re-visiting the place in the evening, he had found all the old bags and refuse left on the Praya. Defendant admitted that on the day reported, he had a few bags on the Praya, and that he incurred that such was the case from the crowded condition of his shop, which was quite full of merchandize.

Fined $24, or in default seven days.

The master of the Wanlee Yu-kee godown, situated No. 4, Sang Hing Lane, one Chun-a-sum, was also charged by Inspector Grey, with having committed the same offence on the 5th instant, on the Praya West, by packing sugar thereon.

As in this case defendant could not plead that he had not been warned, as but a short time ago he had been fined $5 for a similar offence. Defendant adroitly tried to profit by his former trouble, alleging that it was not he this time. He had sold 90 bags of sugar to a trader, telling him that he must not on any account attempt to repack it opposite to his godown, and he had been promised by this unworthy customer that he would certainly only change a few of the very worst of the bags. Fined, however, $24; or, in default seven days imprisonment.

Chun-a-shing, of Sanon, a coolie, was charged by Yee-a-shing, a foreman over labourers at work at Stanley, of whom the defendant is one, with having stolen some of the clothing, which upon going to bed on the night of the 1st he had taken off and hung up against his door, in a portion of the long shed in which he slept, which was partitioned off from the remainder and larger portion of the building occupied by the gang. Upon mustering the gang, at the time when he discovered that the articles of clothing were gone, the prisoner was absent, and not seen again until he was met at the Festival on the 2nd, at 8 P.M., when he was given into custody; nothing of complainant's however, had been found upon defendant. Remanded until Tuesday next.

The case of Christian Albert Muller, seaman on board the Mary Lee, of Marryport, accused of killing —— McHenry, a seaman, also belonging to the said ship, on the high seas, on the 3rd May last, on the voyage from London to Yokohama, was concluded before the junior police magistrate yesterday, when C. A. Muller, who reserved his defence was committed to be tried for the same at the approaching criminal sessions of the Supreme Court.

H. R. H. THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH IN JAPAN.

(From a Correspondent.)

YOKOHAMA, 30th August, 1869.

Yesterday afternoon at one o'clock, the Galatea steamed into the harbour, and saluted the flag of Admiral Keppel, in the fine old naval style of hoisting her jib when she fired. The excitement was very great during the afternoon, and sanguine expectations were evinced to see the Prince land. Yesterday and to-day he landed, but privately.

The Fleet will not accompany him to Yeddo, as originally intended; the Duke will drive up.

To-morrow he will hoist the Royal Standard, which will be saluted by the Fleet in Harbour.

When further arrangements have been made as to the movements of the Prince, I will keep you informed. At present I can only regret that some display is not being made on the Duke's entry to Yeddo. It was good policy on Sir Harry Parkes' part desiring it, but I understand it has been over-ruled. Appended is a short account of the voyage of the Galatea from New Zealand:—

"Left Auckland, New Zealand, on the 1st June, and arrived at Tahiti at 5 P.M. on the 19th, having run 360 miles since Noon on the 18th. Queen Pomare and the French authorities did all they could to give H.R.H. a welcome reception. The natives from all parts of the island, and from most of the districts of Tahiti were assembled in Papeete to welcome the Prince, and did not return to their homes until the departure of the Galatea on the 2nd July. Arrived at the port of Hilo, in the island of Hawaii on the 20th, and remained there for two days, thus enabling many of the officers to see the famous volcano of Kilauea. Remained in Honolulu from the 21st July to 2nd August. Had light Easterly winds nearly all the way to Japan, but on the 10th inst., experienced a heavy gale."

A LUNATIC MERCHANT.

A remarkable case was brought on Wednesday before the Lord Mayor's Court, in the city of London, in the shape of an attachment to secure the possession of £1,000 worth of diamonds, which had been obtained by fraud. It appeared that a Prussian, named Augustus Wendell, some time ago took offices at 17, Cullum-street, Fenchurch-street, to carry on the business of a merchant. He travelled on the Continent, and got introductions there to some of the first merchants. Among them was a firm of commission merchants of great respectability at Vienna, to whom he promised large orders when he returned to England. Shortly after he came back he wrote a letter to the firm, dated from Balmoral, Scotland, and April Fool's day, requesting them to buy Court, giving an order for a gentleman's ring for the little finger, of pure Victoria gold, and containing a large emerald, but no ornaments, and the price was not to exceed 400 florins. He also gave an order for a cross of brilliants (to be made according to a drawing enclosed in the letter), which was to be of the value of 2,000 florins. The letter contained instructions to the firm to be sure and go to the best jewellers, and to get the cross of the size in the sketch. The letter further directed that the firm should get a letter of warranty with the cross and send it to 17, Cullum-street, by the 23rd of June. It also said, "The weather is getting bad here, and the Queen is going back to London, and we are all now packing up, with this order writing will be to tardy, and you must, therefore, use the telegraph and send it to my office. I send you a check for £250, and request that you will not draw upon me for less than £200." On the receipt of this order the firm got it executed, and on the 24th of June despatched the parcel containing the jewels from Vienna; and they were safely delivered at the office in Cullum-street on the 28th ult., directed as requested "To the Right Hon. Sir Augustus Wendell," as besides for the Southern ports of Europe. The letter further referred to an order for 20,000 pairs of gloves for the British army, but said that, as a change of Ministry was expected, the order must be delayed for a short time. The check given by Wendell was sent over here, presented, dishonored, and returned, the man having no effects at the bank. This fact, with the non-receipt of any acknowledgement of the diamonds having come to hand, alarmed the firm, and the head of it came to England at once to inquire into it. He went to the Austrian Consulate, told them the case, and laid the correspondence before them, requesting their intercession with the police to recover their property. The Consul informed him that it was a mere matter of debt, that the man had made no false representations, except by inference, and that according to English law the police could not interfere. But he advised him to go to Mr. Pollaky, and no doubt he would recover it for him. The merchant accordingly went to Mr. Pollaky, who immediately commenced his inquiries. He found that Wendell had taken handsome apartments in Jermyn-street, St. James's, and had ordered a 50 guinea pianoforte from a maker in Marlborough-street. His landlady, not knowing him, requested some money, and he gave her a check for £4 on the Union Bank, which on being presented was returned with "No effects" marked on it. She at once communicated the fact to the pianoforte maker, who did not then send in the instrument. On Saturday, the 26th of June, Wendell went to Cullum-street for the parcel, and finding it had been left in error, was disappointment. From there it appeared that he went to an oyster shop in the Strand, where he had supper, but when asked to pay for it expressed his astonishment that they should ask Jesus Christ to pay for what he had to eat and drink. The land lord of the supper rooms not being satisfied sent for the police, who discovered that the man was a complete lunatic. After going through the necessary forms, Wendell was taken to the Strand Union lunatic ward, thence removed to the Lunatic Asylum at Fulbertson, near Salisbury, where he now remains. Mr. Pollaky then took the merchant to Messrs. Mullens, the solicitors to the Society of Bankers, who at once took out an attachment on the jewels in the Lord Mayor's Court, so that there is now no doubt that the owner will get back his property at considerable expense.—Times, July 9th.

A Church without a Creed.

The Saturday Review, in some remarks on Dr. Davidson and Mr. Voysey, admits that old dogmatic prejudices may be flying out, that the world may possibly be growing wiser and more liberal in its belief, and advancing daily, to use Dr. Davidson's language, in the path of "true religion and the promotion of rational liberty." But long before Dr. Davidson's Catholic ideal of a creedless or almost creedless faith has been reached, the day of Established Churches will have passed away. It seems doubtful in any case whether it will last much longer. Disestablishment in Ireland has given a blow to the principle, and in a somewhat different way it is weakened by the recurrence of such cases as the St. Albans or Voysey prosecution. The Review quite agrees with Dr. Davidson that there is a great deal to be said for establishment as opposed to voluntary churches, and that, up to a certain point, they afford a valuable guarantee for religious freedom. But there is a point, beyond which freedom cannot be reached, without merging into anarchy, and disintegrating the whole system. How nearly that point has already been reached in the Church of England the Review will not undertake to say, but that her fabric will not bear many more such rough experiments as we have witnessed of late seems clear enough.

A Scene.

(Times, July 17.)

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT, JULY 16.

(Before Chief Justice Bovill.)

Shortly after the opening of the court this morning, and while a trial for arson was proceeding, Mr. Brierly, the barrister, again presented himself and took a seat on the front bench, assigned to counsel. Availing himself of a pause in the trial, he rose to address the Judge. Speaking in an excited manner, he said he claimed audience of his Lordship as the senior member of the Bar there. He complained that on the previous day an outrage had been committed upon him in that court, which he would venture to say was unexampled since the days of Judge Jeffreys. He was dragged from counsel's bar at his Lordship's very eyes, and while he was simply attempting to exercise what he conceived to be a right as a member of the Bar. The gown was actually ripped from his back, and he was subjected to other indignities. That, it was true, was not the act of the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, but all officers of the Court, but qui facit per alium, facit per se. He had then only attempted to exercise a right of seniority, and which he was prevented from exercising by a Mr. Bromby, a member of the Bar, who was not born when he (Mr. Brierly) began to practise in that court. That gentleman had refused to give him a seat which he (Mr. Brierly) claimed to occupy as a right, next to the Attorney-General, as the senior member of the Bar there. he having been called 36 years ago.—Chief Justice Bovill (interposing)—What is your application?

Mr. Brierly said it was this, that unless his Lordship did what he could to redress the outrage which had been committed upon him, he should cause him to be impeached, for he considered that his Lordship in ordering him to be expelled the court, had dishonoured himself, had dishonoured his (Mr. Brierly), and had dishonoured the Bar.

Chief Justice Bovill asked what his application was.

Mr. Brierly said he had not in his composition a particle of revenge, which was an emanation of the Devil; but if his Lordship would say that he had acted hastily on the occasion, he would forget and forgive it. Mr. Brierly was proceeding to revile persons in court, including one of the Under Sheriffs, for what he conceived to have been affronts offered to him, when

Chief Justice Bovill, again interfering, said, —I must know what the application is you are about to make. I cannot allow you to consume the public time; and, as far as I am concerned, it is a matter of indifference to me what observations you may choose to make in respect to me; but I cannot allow other persons to be attacked by you without some reason, or without some application accompanied by an affidavit.

Mr. Brierly said he had no affidavit. He was 77 years of age, and had always occupied the position of a gentleman. He mightisay, too, that those courts which were formerly corrupt had been rendered pure, by his sole exertions. ("Shame, shame.") It was he alone who had cleansed the Augean Stable, and he again complained the outrage in having been dragged from the court on the previous day.

Chief Justice Bovill.—I cannot allow the public time to be wasted any longer. You will be good enough to sit down or retire from the court, unless indeed, you have some explanation to offer for having brought those large stones, which I have now before me, down to the court.

Mr. Brierly.—I have had occasion to use them here this very morning, and I was nearly murdered last Sunday by three ruffians who had set upon me.

Chief Justice Bovill.—Am I to understand that you have brought down these large stones for the purpose of defending yourself?

Mr. Brierly.—Not here.

Chief Justice Bovill.—I have here some other stones that you brought down a some time back.

Mr. Brierly.—I never "presented" them. Were they taken from my wig-box? I have some in my wig-box now.

Chief Justice Bovill.—Now, once for all, you will be good enough to sit down. I may say this to you—that so long as you conduct yourself with propriety you will be allowed to remain; but if you interfere in the slightest degree in the business before the court, I shall commit you to prison.

Mr. Brierly.—I hear you, my lord, and I shall do what is right, for I descend from a long line of which I have no need to be ashamed. I demand back my stones. (A laugh.)

With that the altercation dropped; Mr. Brierly resumed his seat, and soon afterwards left the court.

A bear escaped recently from a menagerie at Prague, and, after walking very quietly through the streets for a time, remarked a gingerbread shop, which he entered, and in a very short time had devoured several crowns' worth of the wares. The dealer had fled in terror at the sight of this unwelcome customer, but a number of boys and idlers looked on highly amused. When Bruin had taken his fill he returned quietly to his cage, and the young spectators burst into the shop and ate up all the cakes and gingerbread left.
